

Ajay Ranjan Mishra

Ajay Ranjan Mishra is the Global Head of Business Development for New Growth Markets for Nokia Siemens Networks. Since his graduation, he has been working in Nokia Networks and has worked in India, Finland, UK, US and Singapore. His decade of experience ranges from Research to Business Development, Product Management to Project Management in six continents and more than three dozen countries globally.

Ajay has authored more than half a dozen research papers in the Technical and Management domain, published both internally and internationally. He has also authored two books on Cellular Network Design & Optimisation. Ajay is an invited council member on the Telecommunication Advisors Council, GLG – New York (USA) and is a member of the ITU's Asia Pacific Telecommunity. He is regularly invited by the industry and universities to speak on topics related to mobile technology. Ajay graduated in 1997 from the University of Delhi with Masters of Technology in Microwave Electronics.