

Mr. Adrian Hall

Director of Mobile Learning
Steljes Ltd.

Adrian's role with SMART Technologies' distributor in the United Kingdom is to develop thinking around the use of technology in education. Prior to this, Adrian worked for the UK's Department of Education and Skills as a senior policy advisor on educational software. His responsibilities included developing the government's policy in relation to the educational software industry, creation of curriculum software to work on mobile devices, and enhancing thinking on the use of games in education.