

Sanjiv Sharma, a Computer Graduate from Oxford University and London Board came back to India in 1982 and established computer education programs and implementation of computer in various fields. He utilized his next 20 years working for Industry and developed a status of consultant and technologists for various companies in India and Internationally.

He retired from active business operations in 2000 to establish Jaikisan.org , a society to enable an excess to entire business community to rural market. First business center called Kisan Soochna Kendra was established in Uttaranchal and this infrastructure creation became his passion , Kisan Soochna Kendra not only provided business to corporate but also started creating an ecosystem with the villages for employability of villagers adding wealth , new technology and opportunities in the rural arena.`